Schodack Central PTA Holds First Fall Meeting

Castleton News

The Schodack Central Parent Teachers Association held its first fall meeting last week at Maple Hill School Cafeteria, with Mrs. F. H. Hutchison, Castleton, presiding.

Girl Scout Troop 575, led by Mrs. Robert Haggerty, presented the flags, and led the Salute to the flag.

Mrs. Robert Turner, Program Chairman, announced an exhibit at the Castleton Elementary School, with Richard A. Hixon, Art Instructor, in charge. The Art Exhibit will be presented by pupils in the elementary grades, and will be held Nov. 6.

On Dec. 4, the PTA will sponsor a program at Castleton Elementary School, "How our School helps our Children Thru Pupil Personnel."

Larry Davis, supervising principal, introduced the faculty in grades 7 through 12. The PTA meeting was followed by a film, "Flowers of Darkness," which was a discussion of narcotics and its abuse in the major cities of America.

George Mesick, Jr., vice president of Schodack Central Board of Education, introduced the film, and made a few remarks.

He noted that communications between community and school board have not been ideal as evidenced by two defeated budgets. He pointed out that the School District still has a contingency budget with only six propositions on student transportation, cafeteria service, library and textbooks, interscholastic activities, instructional supplies and equipment, and maintenance projects added to the budget by voters in the third special election.

Mr. Mesick pledged for the School board, more lines of communication between the school, parent-teacher groups, and the community, and expressed the hope that the community would be aware of the activities and programs of the school and the school board.
