"A quiet Halloween night" was the opinion of most persons living in Castleton. Except for a few eggs tossed and a squirt or two of shaving cream, Halloween pranksters just didn't seem interested this year.

The Castleton Kiwanis Club sponsored their annual Halloween Parade and costume judging was done by wives of Kiwanis members and cash prizes were awarded to the winners.

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore, Tucker, Joel, Paula and Stacy, were awarded first prize for the best costume, each dressed as a train car.

Second prize was awarded to Laurie Sherman as a totem pole. Third prize was given to young Bill Palmer dressed as a knight. Three prizes were awarded by the Kiwanis for the funniest costumes: first, Bryan Cassidy; second, Susan Cassidy; third, Debbie Martino.

The four Moore children were also awarded the third prize for the most original costume. First original prize went to Scott Secor, second, Jeanne Murdock. The three prize winners for the scariest category were Lauri Lamberson, Theresa Kane, and Lauri Murdock.

Three year old Any Sweet was awarded the first prize for the prettiest costume, second to Michelle Baisley and Donna Honeyman third prize.

Refreshments were served to the marchers by members of the Castleton Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary.

Women Plan Bazaar
The Women's Guild of St. David's Episcopal Church on Brookview Road will hold their annual Village Store Bazaar Saturday, Nov. 10 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the church. Co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. Robert Maas and Mrs. Wallace Wheeler.

A number of booths will be displayed at the bazaar including a "country store."

Sandwiches, soup, pies and beverages will be served during the day.

Scout Troops Seeks Funds To Buy Trees

The Castleton Boy Scout Troop 55 under the leadership of Michael Corey, in cooperation with the Castleton Village Board and Mrs. Vivian Ingalls, Castleton representative to the "Keep Rensselaer County Clean Commission" is starting a fund drive to obtain money for the purchase of trees and shrubs to be planted by members of the troop for the beautification of the Village of Castleton.

Those wishing to contribute any amount, small or large, may mail their donations to Mrs. Vivian J. Ingalls, 55 Campbell Avenue, Castleton or to Michael Corey, 31 Seaman Avenue, Castleton. All checks should be made payable to "Castleton Beautification Fund."

4-H Club Earn Achievement Certificates

The Schodack Castleton area 4-H Clubs held their annual Achievement Night on October 28 at the Emmanuel Reformed Church Building on Maple Hill Road. Special guests for the evening were Mrs. George Mesick, who presented special awards and installed the new officers of all area clubs and Mrs. Norman Butts, who presented the achievement

Hibbs. David U. Hillmann, 4-H agent has invited all Rensselaer County youngsters interested in the care and training of rabbits and guinea pigs to an organizational meeting at the Tamarac High School on November 14 at 7:30 p.m. The small pet training class is offered to the youth in Rensselaer County. Meetings will be held once a month. Those planning on attending are asked to notify Mr. Hillmann at the 4-H office in the Troy Post Office.
